One day as I was walking I saw something strange looking and it looked like a flying carpet and I was flying there the air and I looked funny. Then the carpet started talking to me the carpet said, "Let's go to New York." Then I got on and it went fast when I was on the carpet I saw some of my friends and they asked me where did you get that carpet. When we came to New York I saw the Statue of Liberty. Then I saw the ferry boat and then I stayed at a hotel and guess what I did I just saw a rock and roll band.

Then the carpet took me to see the band and when I got there the band let me come back stage with them. I was kind of scared at first and the band had to perform on stage in front of millions of people. Then I asked them aren't you scared and one of them said, at first we were then we got over it and we ain't scared no more then I just thought of something the band could play crazy car cause the band is called The Naked Brothers Band and they are awesome when they got out and sang the songs they sang. Then I went to my hotel room and fell asleep in my bed then the next morning I woke up the carpet said from last night my powers are going away and I am going to be a regular carpet and I can't fly no more but I could hold a baby on me not a big person like you. Then I wanted to go to Mississippi but I drove there in my new car that I just bought with my money. It was a long drive to Mississippi. Then I had to get some more gas in my car cause I was running low on it. Just then the band followed me to the gas station and they wanted me to join the band. I said no, cause I have kids and I just can't leave them and they wouldn't have a mother to love.

Just then I found a new car and this one was different from the other one in my car but I was his sister and I took her too long to get here then I invited them to my house even the band for supper when my husband got home he was mad he told every body to get out of my house even me but I took the kids and I left him nothing but his clothes. Then I went with the band and I lived with them in their house in Tennessee and the band was so happy that I said yes to them.

And that my story of my journey to two different states and they were fun and then I forgot to tell you that my husband got a new wife her name was Molly and she had 4 kids in a trailer with four bedrooms with two bathrooms. And they got married.
